OVERVIEW

Ronald Shore Group is pleased to present the former Residence of the Consul General of Switzerland. This impressive diplomatic property is an exquisite Italianate home built in 1921 by architect Frank L. Meline for insurance executive William Monroe McGee. McGee lived in the home until the 1940s when he turned it over to his son, William H. McGee, who lived there until 1956. It has been lovingly maintained by the Swiss Confederation since 1985. Public rooms on the main floor are on a grand scale: Welcoming Foyer; Formal Living Room with fireplace; additional Parlor off the Living Room; Formal Dining Room with French Doors opening to pool and yard; expansive Family Room with French Doors, original 1920s terra cotta tile, and fireplace; an Office; Kitchen; and Servants' Wing. The home has four main bedrooms as well as two staff bedrooms and 5 baths. The Master Suite is generously ...
